The Mayor's Committee on Unemployment, headed by Judge Elbert II. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, has decided that New York will be able to care for only its own distressed and idle men and women. In a preliminary report of the executive committee, submitted yesterday after a meeting at Mr. Gary's offices, it was urged that the authorities of other cities be informed not to encourage the tide of unemployed that is orifting into the city.

It was also suggested that work on all public projects that could be done in the winter be started at once. Men out of work would supply the labor. Operations on the contemplated new courthouse was mentioned as one enterprise offering employment. The committee did not urge the city to undertake new operations, but to push those already approved. It was deemed advisable that employment under municipal contracts be given only to citizens of New York in need of and ready and willing to labor.

Up in Terrace Garden last night, at its monthly meeting, the Police Captains and Inspectors' Benevolent Association is reported to have solved the W. B. Ellison problem with true police directness. It is said that Mr. Ellison is under contract for twelve months with each of the four police organizations. The contracts date from September.

Romor has it that the committee which took up Mr. Ellison's charges and Commissioner Woods's reply for the captains and inspectors reported that the attorney would insist on his contract with the association and recontract with the association of the New York State when the later hours of the day they cannot be associated to the committee which took up Mr. Ellison's charges and Commissioner Woods's reply for the captains and inspectors from any blame.
